Individual Professional Development Plan

Upon completion of the evaluation process, the final step is for each teacher to develop his/her own Individual Professional Development Plan. The document must fall within the umbrella of district and/or building goals, but should be personalized to meet the identified needs of the individual. The process is for the individual teacher to develop the plan, and then meet with the building principal to discuss and approve. A follow-up is required at the end of the school year to review progress on individual goals and develop further goals for the next school. This is a continuous improvement model so each year progress will be documented and new goals set, e.g., this will occur every year.
